Also Forced to Don Black Cravats When Away From Camp on Leave.

BY J. CROSBY McCARTHY, Staff Correspondent.

DISTRICT NATIONAL GUARD CAMP WARREN, Ariz., September 5.-The men of the three units camped here in Warren are beginning to know what men to wear black cravats, when out of

The District militia units are now getting bread cooked in camp. At the west end of the camp of the regular infantry regiment there is a field bakery, where about 2,000 pounds of bread are cooked daily. The baking starts at 1 o'clock in the morning and continues until about 2 o'clock every afternoon, with two shifts at work.

Sergt. Shipley has his hands full these unit.

HORSE HAS LONGEST PEDIGREE IN THE WORLD

urple be his raiment, nor, in fact, any other human being, can trace his anestry as far back as that of the This animal, so well known the world over, has the longest pedigree on record; one probably more than 3,000,000 years old, dating back to what is known as the Eocene age, thousands of enealogical tree is shown in the Naional Museum at Washington, where series of feet and skulls depict some f his more important ancestors. The horse of the Eocene, or his for The horse of the Eocene, or his forbear, rather, was known as Eohippus, or "dawn horse." He was about the size of a fox, standing a little more than one foot high. Eohippus lived in North America, where he ran lightfootedly over the tertiary rocks on his well developed four-tood front feet and three-toed hind feet. His teeth were not like those of a modern horse, either, but were short crowned. While scientists are unable to tell us just how long his mane was, if he had any, or the color of his hide, they do know the facts mentioned above, for his fossil emains have been found in the rock strata known as the lower eocene, which is supposed to date back about 3,000,000 years.

It is a fortunate thing that little Sohippus experienced the development that he did, or became specialized, as one requiring all officers and enlisted men to wear black cravats, when wear black cravats, when wear black cravats, when seems to expendent the solution of camp on pass. Today another order was being due back at dock on September; 23. Where she is going not even her commander knows, for he has orders to cruise. He said he probably would go down and cruise around in the Chessapeake bay for awhile, and then, if the weather conditions were favorable, he would "haul out" through the Virginia capes and head up the coast for New York, where liberty would be given the men.

However, this all depends on the weather conditions. For the Sylvia is a little vessel and needs fair weather to cruise around on the "outside."

Stop at Colonial Beach.

After stopping at Colonial Beach for a short period the vessel will steam for Tangeir sound, the navy's target grounds. There Commander Brumment will "swing ship," which means that he will turn the ship's nose to all points of the compass to get the devia, then of the District mine wartillery horses harnessed to the guns yesterday for the first time.
